Raiders win first game

The Appomattox Varsity Raider football team won its first game of the 1981 season Saturday night against Gretna, 8-0.

The game, like several in the Seminole District, had been postponed from Friday night due to inclement weather.

The Raiders' two scores came on a Gretna punt blocked by Raider Robert Paulette which resulted in a safety, and on a three-yard plunge by Alan Edmonds at the end of the game.

Edmonds' score was disputed by Gretna coach Ken Meadors, who said that time had run out when the Raider running back scored. The clock had apparently run out, but one of the officials said that time had been called with two seconds remaining on the clock, and that was enough time for the Raiders to cross the Gretna goal line.

Raider Ron Carter played quarterback against Gretna. Kevin Ferguson, who was slated to start at quarterback for the Raiders, dislocated his right index finger in practice Thursday afternoon and will likely miss three or four more games, according to Raider coach Gary Cuccio.

"Carter did an excellent job filling in," Cuccio said of the game Saturday night.

In all, it was a slow night offensively for the Raiders. Appomattox gained a total of 199 yards on offense, including 146 on the ground and 53 yards on three pass receptions.

Mark Kelso caught one pass for 11 yards against Gretna, as well.

The Raiders made 10 first downs in Saturday night's contest with Gretna.

"We have the potential to be a fine football team," said Coach Cuccio after his first game at the helm of the Raider ship. "But we have got to avoid making mistakes while concentrating on capitalizing on our opponents' errors," the coach added.

Cuccio said the offensive line seemed a little sluggish against Gretna, and would be the focal point for intense drilling in preparation for this Friday evening's game against William Campbell.

"We need to work on getting our offensive line to operate as a unit," said the coach. "If we can get our offensive personnel to put as much effort into the game as our defensive personnel, then I think we'll really take off."

William Campbell, the team Appomattox will play this week at home, was picked before the season began to take the Seminole District crown this year.

This weekend, William Campbell was stunned by a tough Liberty team, which stymied William Campbell's offense and held the game to a scoreless tie.

"William Campbell is an exceptional football team," Cuccio said Monday of the team Appomattox will play this Friday night.

"I think that tie with Liberty just woke them up."

Friday night's game will begin at 8 p.m. at Bragg Stadium behind Appomattox Middle School.

ROBERT PAULETTE, MIKE ROSSER, and Ron Carter (from left) were named linemen of the week and back of the week for the Raider varsity football team.

Paulette, Rosser, Carter are cited for contributions

Robert Paulette and Mike Rosser were named linemen of the week, and Ron Carter was named back of the week following Saturday night's varsity football game with Gretna.

Rosser recorded four tackles, two assists and two interceptions in the game, according to Raider coach Gary Cuccio. One of his tackles prevented a Gretna touchdown, the coach adds. "Rosser played solid defense all the way," according to Cuccio.

Paulette recorded two solo tackles, five assists and blocked a punt deep in Gretna territory which led to the first Raider score, a safety.

Carter went six for 13 in the passing department, as he was called on unexpectedly to fill the quarterback slot against Gretna. He also ran the ball 11 times for 41 yards, according to Cuccio.

The linemen of the week will receive a complimentary steak dinner from Jeanne's Restaurant of Appomattox, as well as a complimentary banana split from Dairy Queen of Appomattox.

The back of the week will receive a complimentary Whopper, french fries and Coke at the Appomattox Burger King.

Patrick, Kelso chosen

Carroll Patrick was named the Raider junior varsity lineman of the week, and Ronald Kelso was named back of the week for their performances in last week's game against Amherst, according to Raider jayvee coach Howard Clabough.

Patrick, who plays offensive tackle and defensive guard, recorded three solo tackles and nine assists against Amherst.

Kelso, who plays offensive tailback and defensive end, gained 107 yards in 17 carries on offense, and had three solo tackles and two assists on defense.

Howard Clabough

Clabough new AD

Howard Clabough has been named athletic director at Appomattox County High School.

Clabough, who acts as varsity baseball coach and junior varsity football coach, will be assisted by coaches Ray Archer and Gary Cuccio in his duties as athletic director.

Archer, who serves as head track coach and assistant varsity football coach, will be in charge of making arrangements for and overseeing autumn indoor sports.

Cuccio, varsity football coach and assistant track coach, will be in charge of making arrangements for and overseeing winter indoor sports.

Clabough's primary responsibilities will be finance and the athletic department's budget.

Clabough, who has been coaching in Appomattox since 1974, has compiled a 17-3 record in two years at the helm of the junior varsity squad.

Last year, Clabough's varsity Raider baseball squad went all the way to the semifinal round of the state AA championship tournament.

Jayvee Raiders win first

The Raider Junior Varsity football squad started their season with a bang Thursday, in a hard-earned 18-14 victory over Amherst at Amherst Junior High School.

The Raiders took a 8-0 first-quarter lead when Ricky Turner scored from four yards out.

In the second quarter, the Raiders went ahead 12-0 when Paul Johson connected with tight end Kevin Kendrick on a 20-yard touchdown pass.

Amherst closed the gap to 12-6 just before the first half ended, however, on a 50-yard pass play.

The Raiders went up by two touchdowns again in the third quarter as Lonnie Hamlett hauled in a 25-yard pass from quarterback Paul Johnson, to set the score at 18-6.

As the fourth quarter began, the Cougars again scored on a long pass play and then made a two-point conversion to bring the score to 18-14, which remained unchanged the rest of the game.

"I was very pleased with all phases of the game, except our pass defense," said coach Howard Clabough. The coach noted that the Raiders did have some reserve players in the game when Amherst scored their second touchdown.

Clabough says the offense was led by Ronald Kelso, with 107 yards on 17 carries. Ricky Turner added 26 yards, Russell Walton 12 yards and Paul Johnson threw four completions for 52 yards, including two touchdown passes.

"The defensive line did a super job," Clabough continued. He said the defensive front was led by Carrol Patrick who had 12 tackles for the day, Anthony Browder and Cari Banks, who each had eight tackles, Ricky Turner with seven tackles, and Lonnie Hamlett and Ronald Kelso, with six tackles each.

Phil Bollinger, Mike Ferguson, Russell Walton, and Kinckle Robinson all added four tackles each as the Raiders held Amherst to only four first downs on running plays.

This Thursday, the young Raider team will travel to William Campbell for a 6 p.m. game.

Brad Babcock honored

James Madison University baseball coach Brad Babcock has been named "Eastern Region Baseball Coach of the Year" by the American Association of College Baseball Coaches.

Babcock directed JMU to a 41-18-1 record last season when the Dukes won the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) Southern Division Tournament championship and participated in the NCAA Eastern Regional Tournament.

"The only thing better than being coach of the year is having the team of the year by winning the national championship," Babcock said. "Anytime a coach wins an award, he accepts it on behalf of the team because it's the team and not the coach that makes it possible."

The Eastern Region is one of eight NCAA regions naming a coach of the year, and it consists of 32 Division I baseball programs. The region's coaches vote for the coach of the year award.

Babcock, a native of Appomattox, Va., has an 11-year record of 281-122-1 (.697) at JMU and has led the Dukes to consecutive ECAS Southern Division Tournament championships and NCAA regional tournament appearances. JMU has won 30 or more games in each of the last six seasons, and the Dukes have participated in post-season tournament play in five of the last six years. Ten JMU players have signed professional baseball contracts during the last six seasons.
